

Consumers should have the right to choose which channels they buy to watch. As it stands now, I have to buy a $40 package to get one channel I want and a couple dozen I do not, and will never watch. Its terribly unfair to do business this way. I only watch a few channels regularly, so why should I have to pay $50 a month for 10 or so channels? Its ridiculous, and a blatant attempt to get more money out of consumers for providing minumal service.
